THE SHOW TODAY.

THE SECOND EDITION OF THE OPENING.

A Large Number of Visitors in Spite of the Crowds Yesterday and the Bad Weather Today.

The visitors to the beautiful show at J. Hansell Wood Shoe and Clothing Co. store was not exhausted yesterday, though they continued to the closing of the doors at 9 o'clock last night. All day today there has been a considerable number of visitors, even among the ladies, in spite of the weather. It has been another day of light music and flowers, and the public seems to take the opening as a complimentary invitation to come and inspect the stock and become customers, and the pains taken to make the visit pleasant strikes everybody favorably. Prof. Bae's orchestra discoursed beautiful music all day to day again, and proprietors and clerks acted as polite ushers to entertain visitors and call attention to the immense stock of goods of which they may well be proud. This favorite clothing and gente furnishing house has been winning laurels for a year past, but this second grand opening is the coup de etat. J. Hansell Wood is a genius, and his stock of fine goods the talk of Waco.

A SWORD IN A STICK.

Captured by the Officers—A Night Adventure.

H. D. Harrigan, a young man of some style of make up, was "doing the city," last night, in company with others of his own sort. He visited most of the places of unquestioned disapprobation and announced that he was prepared to do battle in any or no cause. He carried in his hand a cane which proved to be a combination. Its handle was of horn carved into a dog's head and by touching a tiny button a keen steel rapier, the point of which was as sharp as a fine needle, and the blade of which was long as the stick could be drawn. This he drew now and then and explained that although a wound inflicted by it would not be deep as a well or wide as an open door, would answer to make worm's meat of anyone who opposed him. In his progress he met Deputy Sheriff Lee Jenkins and Press Standifer, and they took him in, cutting off his triumph before midnight and leaving the balance of the time before daylight for reflection. He gave bail to answer the charge of unlawfully carrying concealed and deadly weapons.

FOUND DEAD.

Remains of a Woman Discovered by the Daughter.

An old colored woman named Harriet Abbott, who lived near the First Street cemetery, was found dead yesterday afternoon. Her daughter returned from her day's work and when she opened the door she found her mother lying dead in the floor. She has long been subjected to diseases of the heart and her death was attributed to heart disease.

ALL OVER TOWN.

The entertainment of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian association which was to have taken place at the association's rooms last night, was postponed on account of bad weather. The News will publish the announcement when the date has been fixed upon by the ladies.

The children's masquerade carnival in the Coke building on Austin avenue last night was a complete success. The children were all there from the tiny tot dressed in continental uniform to the stout negro girl with a very masculine bearing. The attendance of both young and old was very large.

Three cheers for Hon. Roger Q. Mills, the champion of tariff reform and the guardian of the rights and liberties of the people.—Hip, hip—hurrah! hurrah! hurrah!!!

A meeting of the ladies of the Texas World's Fair association has been called for next Friday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. W. W. Seeley.

The iron columns for the new Palmo hotel, now in course of construction, will be furnished by the Riverside foundry, O. Cauteson, proprietor. The News believes in patronizing home institutions.

The celebration last night of the fifteenth anniversary of McLennan Lodge No. 241, Independent Order of Odd Fellows was a grand success.

Don't forget the Clark Club meeting Friday night.

The Clark Club at its meeting Friday night will arrange a grand reception for Hon. George Clark when he returns home. Let nothing keep you away from that meeting.

We are pleased to note, as is seen elsewhere in this issue, that Prof. E. E. Cammack has been made principal of the Commercial College of Baylor University. Prof. Cammack will make it hum.

A Correction.

In the report of a case yesterday morning in the Mayor's Court the name of Stella Nolan was given as one of the parties to a knock-down. This was a mistake. It should have been Stella Ferguson.

BIG WORK.

And some of the finest ever done in Texas.

The erection of so many grand new buildings the past year, notably the Provident building, the Padgett, the Coke buildings, together with the decoration of one large hotel, and many stores newly fitted, has tested the skill and resources of Waco glaziers and decorators and that all this work has been done by home people is a credit to Waco. The glazing and painting of the immense Provident building, with its one hundred rooms and $20,000 worth of glass, the glazing and decorating of the great Padgett building and the two great Coke buildings with their immense glass fronts, the magnificent decorating of the Waco State Bank, the Citizens National Bank, of the New McClelland hotel, of the beautiful stores of J. Hansell Wood and Hilt & Co., have all been done by C. F. Smith, the great leading paint house of Waco, and one of the largest in the state. It is worth one's while to go through the buildings mentioned and see the magnificent work done by C. F. Smith. To do so is to acknowledge that no drafts can be made on the resources of Waco, which one Waco firm cannot meet at eight. The business of Mr. Smith is stupendous. It took twenty-five workmen steadily for months on the Provident building alone. The glazing, decorating and painting on all these new buildings has kept employed a small army of workmen. C. F. Smith is not only an artist himself, but employs only the most skilled artists. His foreman of painting, Mr. L. J. Bohrer, and of decorating, Mr. J. Bowman with J. M. Merriek, grainer, have no superiors in the United States. Business men should, when occasion serves, take a look at the work spoken of in the buildings mentioned. It challenges comparison with any similar work in the United States. The establishment of C. F. Smith is on a big scale. He carries an immense stock of glass, paints, oils, varnishes, wall paper and all the goods pertaining to painting and decorating, and has resources for fine work which no demand can bankrupt, and Waco may well be proud of such a house.
